She never chose to be a soldier, so vulnerable in that moment as she was a healer by heart, not a fighter.
Yet the world expected her to triumph, unguarded and bare to the bone as she mustered courage all alone searching for the covid enemy that was nowhere to be seen, as if mocking her.
Remembering her oath and the sacrifices she must make, she held her only weapon - the stethoscope, steady.
With vigor in her heart and a deep breath in,
she stepped forward into the battlefield, to one day come out a hero.
